

"I can do it!"

"In conclusion the "I can do it!" classroom management training proved to be enjoyable, worthwhile, reassuring and beneficial. The instructors did an outstanding job of teaching and modeling the material followed by time for discussion and feedback. The training should be a must for all teachers, especially for those who are just beginning the profession. Please keep me informed of other training sessions being offered by the Colorado Education Association and I will be sure to attend."

"Life in the classroom has been much better since this seminar. I know that I still have a lot of work and things to figure out for myself, but it has gone better since I have implemented the few things I did into my classroom. I found this seminar to be enjoyable and helpful and if I had the opportunity I would attend another seminar in classroom management."

Sara Doser, Colorado Springs

"I knew much of the information given in the workshop, but it was so helpful to revisit it and to receive feed back form the presenters and other teachers. I thank my school for providing me with the opportunity to participate in this workshop and I thank CEA for training and offering this workshop.

It was well worth the time, and I do believe "I can do it".

Deborah Frain, Greeley CO

"At a time when teachers are confronting formidable challenges and distractions, this workshop was a "saving grace" for me".

Leticia Rivera-Davis, Widefield High School

"I am a mentor in our district as well as having an occasional student teacher and supervising interns from Colorado State University. I have recommended this class to new teachers as well as provided them with some useful handouts and strategies on classroom management. This is a tremendous resource! I appreciate the thoroughness in which it offers a variety of strategies/techniques/methods to deal with a wide range of management concerns. I have let our administration know that this resource is available to anyone in our building who would like to use it as a reference."
